

NO SECRET AGREEMENT

This written policy is intended to inform you, clients in family therapy, couple therapy, or parents who are requesting services for their minor child. When we here at Elpis Counseling, LLC agree to work with you we consider the family, couple or parent and minor child (the treatment unit) to be the patient. For instance, if there is a request for the treatment records of the couple or the family, we will seek the authorization of all members of the treatment unit before we release confidential information to third parties. Also, if records are subpoenaed, we will assert the psychotherapist-patient privilege on behalf of the patient (the treatment unit).

During the course of our work with a couple or a family, we may see a smaller part of the treatment unit (e.g., an individual or two siblings) for one or more sessions. These sessions should be seen by you as a part of the work that we are doing with the family or the couple, unless otherwise indicated. If you are involved in one or more of such sessions with any of the therapist here at Elpis Counseling, LLC, please understand that generally these sessions are confidential in the sense that we will not release any confidential information to a third party unless we are required by law to do so or unless we have your written authorization. In fact, since these sessions can and should be considered a part of the family or couple therapy, we would also seek the authorization of the other individuals in the treatment unit before releasing confidential information to a third party.

However, we may need to share information learned in an individual session (or a session with only a portion of the treatment unit being present) with the entire treatment unit -- that is, the family, the couple or the parent(s), if we are to effectively serve the unit being treated. We will use our best judgment as to whether, when, and to what extent we will make disclosures to the treatment unit, and will also, if appropriate, first give the individual or the smaller part of the treatment unit being seen the opportunity to make the disclosure. Thus, if you feel it necessary to talk about matters that you absolutely want to be shared with no one, you might want to consult with an individual therapist who can treat you individually.

This "no secrets" policy is intended to allow us to continue to treat the patient (the couple or family unit) by preventing, to the extent possible, a conflict of interest to arise where an individual's interests may not be consistent with the interests of the unit being treated. For instance, information learned in the course of an individual session may be relevant or even essential to the proper treatment of the couple or the family. If we are not free to exercise clinical judgment regarding the need to bring this information to the family or the couple during their therapy, we might be placed in a situation where we will have to terminate treatment of the couple, the family or the minor child. This policy is intended to prevent the need for such termination.

We acknowledge by our individual signatures below, that each of us has read this policy, that we understand it, that we have had an opportunity to discuss its contents with our therapist and that we enter couple/family therapy in agreement with this policy.
